PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I hope everyone is enjoying 2023 and our beautiful Winter Wonderland. Perhaps by this summer we will see a major improvement in the severity of our drought and fire danger and our beautiful lake will once again be reaching its natural rim with clear blue skies above.

Our first Board Meeting this year was held January 12th and we have two new officers to introduce. Our first Vice President is Anne Marie Williams who joined our club a year ago and our new Secretary is long time member Saundra Beretta. We are also very proud to announce that our former Secretary and Parliamentarian Connie Skidmore is now the Parliamentarian for the Nevada Federation of Republican Women (NvFRW). Our Legislative Chairman Yolanda Knaak is now the NvFRW Legislative Chairman. Connie and Yolanda will also both continue as Parliamentarian and Legislative Chairman for our club.

January 21st our Executive Board and several Board of Directors members attended the Northern Nevada Leadership Workshop in Minden. This is an annual workshop attended by the Executive Board members from other Northern Nevada Republican Women Clubs for a day of education and exchanging ideas. We had a keynote speaker discussing leadership and then met in groups by office to learn and share ideas. Topics included membership, fundraising, program ideas, and achievement awards. This was a wonderful opportunity to meet the leaders of the other Northern Nevada clubs.

Our first general luncheon meeting is February 14th Valentine's Day at the Chateau. This meeting is not to be missed. Our guest speaker will be Todd Lowe the President of the Village League to Save Incline Assets. Todd will present the "PRO" view of the very important topic for 2023 "Why Incline Village and Crystal Bay should incorporate as a City." Todd will be accompanied by the organization's attorney Kevin Lyons to answer specific questions. Our March meeting speaker will be IVCBRW Club member Judi Miller presenting the "CON" viewpoint. Both of these meetings are important for you to attend in order to gather information which will assist in your decision as to what is the best plan for the future our community.

Hope to see everyone February 14th for a Happy Valentine's Day!

Cretia Eyster

SHOULD INCLINE VILLAGE INCORPORATE AS A CITY?

Our February speakers will provide you information and answer questions on the "Pro" side of the argument, a speaker on the "Con" side of the argument will be hosted at our March meeting.

Our February speaker is TODD LOWE, President of the Village League to Save Incline Assets. The Village League is noted for winning Incline Village and Crystal Bay's battle against Washoe County resulting in property tax refunds for residents of over $100 million dollars.

Todd's co-speaker is KEVIN LYONS, a sought-after keynote speaker and educator on government topics. He is Co-Founder and Chief Scientist for Governance Sciences Group, and co-inventor of the FlashVote survey system that collects statistically valid community input to help local governments make better decisions.

COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

You haven't gotten rid of me yet... I will periodically send out a short recap of some of the informational meetings that I attend here in Incline Village. The two groups that I try to attend during the month are The Community Forum and Conversation Café. Both of these meetings are not only informative but fun. I am going to do a short recap of both meetings from January.

The Community Forum meets on the first and third Friday of the month from 9 – 10 am. This meeting is in-person at the Incline Village Library on 845 Alder Avenue. Also you can attend online via Zoom:

<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/81536121755?pwd=aWtXeWtNL1ZHK3IPMG9CZWlK1U5QT09>

Meeting ID: 815 3612 1755

Passcode: 1864

They request that you join at 8:55 am so the meeting can begin on time. If you want further information about this meeting format, you can go to ivcbcommunityforum@gmail.com

I have been attending this meeting for several years.

This past Friday morning we met the new Washoe County Special Operations Captain. His name is Blaine Beard. He has been with the WCSO for 25 years and was promoted to Captain seven months ago. He is replacing Cory Solferino as Captain here in Incline Village. Cory has been promoted to Chief Deputy of Operations for Washoe County. We will miss him, but look forward to having Captain Beard as our new man in charge. We now have 16 deputies, 2 motor officers, 4 sergeants (soon to have 5), and 1 lieutenant. For those who have not met Tiffany, she has been our Sheriff Support Specialist for about a year and a half. She took Leslie's place.

Regarding the reconstruction of the lake side of the Hyatt, they were unable to start the demolition of the cottages and the Lone Eagle this Spring because they were unable to get the necessary permit. needed This project has been postponed until 2024.

The second meeting I try to frequent is Conversation Café. This meeting meets every Thursday morning at the Aspen Grove meeting room from 10 – 11:30 am. The meeting is run by IVGID Senior Programs and is conducted by Jennifer Moore, the Senior Recreations Coordinator. There are usually between 15 and 25 people that attend this meeting. There is a continental breakfast for a $2 donation. We usually try to have a topic discussion, but we often discuss whatever the group wants to discuss.

I have been attending this meeting for many years and always find it very informative. As a conservative (as many in this group are) many of the topics turn to what is going on in this country and around the world. The third week of the month is current events, so you can only guess how that goes!

his past week the subject was about several things that have been going on here in Incline Village – from the snow to the voting down of the Cannabis Lounges in unincorporated Washoe County, to workforce housing.

You can get information about this group by going to the IVGID Rec Center, in the lobby they have an informational pamphlet. They also get together to go hiking in the summer and snowshoeing in the winter. They also coordinate fun trips go to the wine country and holiday shopping in Grass Valley. If you would like to join us, let me know – the more the merrier.

Hope to see you at these great meetings!

Our event with Gordon as Speaker was tremendously successful and enabled us to increase our charitable donations as well as the amount of our scholarship fund. Be sure to watch the Q&A, too – it's fascinating!

Speaker McCarthy Announces Subcommittee Members

“The government has a responsibility to serve the American people, not go after them. Unfortunately, throughout Democrats’ one-party rule in Washington we saw a dangerous pattern of the government being used to target political opponents while they neglected their most basic responsibilities. The 118th Congress marks a new beginning for this institution. The Republicans’ governing agenda will be based on transparency, accountability, and solutions. The Members selected to serve on these subcommittees will work to stop the weaponization of the federal government and will also finally get answers to the Covid origins and the federal government’s gain of function research that contributed to the pandemic,” said Speaker McCarthy.

Members who will serve on the  Select Subcommittees on the Weaponization of the Federal Government and the Coronavirus Pandemic:

Chairman Jim Jordan (OH-04)
Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-48)
Rep. Thomas Massie (KY-04)
Rep. Chris Stewart (UT-02)
Rep. Elise Stefanik (NY-21)
Rep. Mike Johnson (LA-04)

THE JOURNEY TO WIN BACK AMERICA

Commentary by Susan A. Schnetz

Have you ever wondered why Republicans keep doing the same thing over and over again . . . with the same poor results? For example, Ronna McDaniel has just won a fourth term to lead the Republican National Committee. She defeated challenger Harmeet Dhillion 111 to 51. Let's hope Ronna will revise the political agenda for 2023 to include some real reforms in the GOP national committee.

And please Republican Congressmen and women, don't repeat the same mistake again of thinking that you can get along with the Democrats in the House. No you can't! Carry on ladies and gentlemen and man the ship before it goes down! We have a chance to reverse the evil that began with President Obama's socialist regime. We had a reprieve of our country's demise under President Trump, but now in just two short years President Joe Biden has deepened the assault on our freedom and liberty breaking down our nation's sovereignty.

Foreign Influence

Alexander Hamilton said in 1793 that "Foreign influence is truly the Grecian horse to a republic. We cannot be too careful to exclude its influence." Since Joe Biden has become president, millions of illegal people from over 150 countries have poured into America through the southern border and have been allowed to stay in our country, transported to cities across the United States, given housing, welfare and living expenses as if they are already citizens of the United States! Because we are not vetting these illegal immigrants, crime has risen at warp speed in all parts of our country.

To date there have been more deaths from fentanyl in our country than there were in the Viet Nam war. Illicit fentanyl is primarily made in China, India and foreign labs. It is then smuggled into the United States, often through Mexico, according to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration. That's one takeaway from a new report by Josh Katz for the New York Times, based on preliminary data estimating how many Americans died of drug overdoses last year. The Times contacted local and state agencies across the United States to come up with a rough estimate. It calculated that 59,000 to 65,000 people died of overdoses last year. Our young people are especially vulnerable to death by fentanyl overdoses under this administration.

National Debt

In a commentary that appeared in The Elephant's Tale in May 2010, our newsletter editor wrote of President Obama's regime: "We now have the most liberal leaders we have ever had in our country and a national debt that is more than all spending combined since our first president George Washington." Well folks, the debt is way beyond this now! Newly elected House Speaker Kevin McCarthy will soon discuss raising the debt with President Biden. McCarthy said he wants to address spending cuts along with raising the debt limit, even though the White House has ruled out linking those two issues together as the government tries to avoid a potentially devastating financial default. The speaker pledged that cuts to Social Security and Medicare would be off the table.

Ever Heard of the Doomsday Clock?

The Doomsday Clock was started by Albert Einstein and The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists in 1945. The University of Chicago scientists helped develop the first atomic weapons at the Manhattan Project and two years later they launched the Clock as a way to warn humanity just how close to nuclear apocalypse the world was. In a story by Elizabeth

Weise, USA
Today, the 2023
Doomsday
Clock says
the world is

closer than ever to global catastrophe than it has ever been since the first nuclear bombs were released at the close of World War II. The time on the Doomsday Clock moved forward from 100 seconds to midnight to 90 seconds to midnight. Between Russia's threat of nuclear weapons in its war on Ukraine, the real perils of climate change and ongoing fears of more pandemics caused by humans, the Bulletin chose to reset the Clock to close to midnight. This Doomsday Clock is a reset of a decades long project of the Bulletin featuring a clock face where midnight represents Armageddon.

Can We Win the Liberals' War Against America?

We have to do our part – it's long past time to fight back. That won't be easy because the radicals are mostly in control of messaging. They have the support and allegiance of the mainstream media, big tech, and corporate America. These entities also more or less control the Democratic Party and much of the Big Swamp bureaucracies, including public schools.¹

Some 20 million left wing militants have shown up to Black Lives Matter rallies in 2019-2020 while Joe Biden huddled in his basement home and the Democrats in Congress sat on their hands and let citizens, towns and cities be destroyed. Recently this year Antifa (see Noteable) is rearing its ugly head again. Their strategies rely on making everyone feel alone, overwhelmed, afraid and defeated. And these strategies have proven to be very effective.

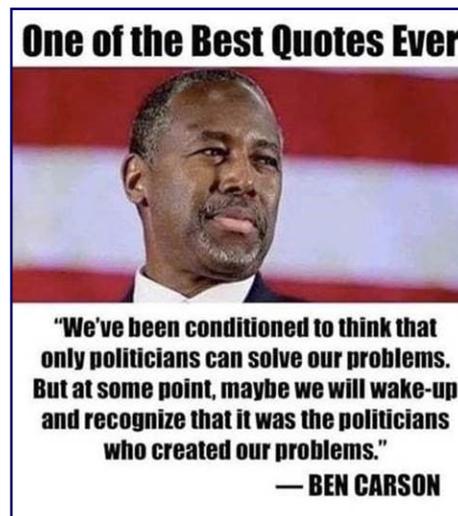

The problem to be solved, then, is one of coordination. The journey to win back America has started with the majority victory in the United States House of Representatives. We conservatives need to strip the Democratic Swamp of their illicit powers and fight to defeat turncoat government bureaucracies be it the FBI, the CIA and the IRS to curb this madness. It's a long shot to get all this done, but our efforts must be hourly, daily, and consistent for the next two years when we once again regain the control of the Senate and the Presidency.

In an article published in The Federalist, far sighted John Daniel Davidson said three years ago that "America is the greatest country on earth, where liberty and prosperity and equality have blossomed as never before in human history. We can recognize our faults and shortcomings without apologizing for all we have achieved. We can defend what is necessary, and what is best, without giving one inch to the radicals who deny the promise of America's Founding and want to see it transformed into something unrecognizable. We had better do so, and quickly. The future of the republic depends on it!"

Noteable: Antifa is a left-wing anti-fascist and anti-racist political movement in the United States. It consists of a highly decentralized array of autonomous groups that use both nonviolent direct action and violence to achieve their aims. – Wikipedia

AMERICANISM

Harriet Beecher Stowe

(1811-1896)

Abolitionist author, Harriet Beecher Stowe rose to fame in 1851 with the publication of her best-selling book, Uncle Tom's Cabin, which highlighted the evils of slavery, angered the slaveholding South, and inspired pro-slavery copy-cat works in defense of the institution of slavery.

Stowe was born on June 14, 1811 in Litchfield, Connecticut, the seventh child of famed Congregational minister Lyman Beecher and Roxana Foote Beecher. Her famous siblings include elder sister Catherine (11 years her senior), and Henry Ward Beecher, the famous preacher and reformer. Stowe's mother died when she was five years old and while her father remarried, her sister Catherine became the most pronounced influence on young Harriet's life. At age eight, she began her education at the Litchfield Female Academy. Later, in 1824, she attended Catherine Beecher's Hartford Female Seminary, which exposed young women to many of the same courses available in men's academies. Stowe's proclivity for writing was evident in the essays she produced for school. Stowe became a teacher, working from 1829 to 1832 at the Hartford Female Seminary.

In 1832, when Stowe's father Lyman accepted the position of president of the esteemed Lane Seminary in Cincinnati, Ohio, she went with him. There, she met some of the great minds and reformers of the day, including noted abolitionists. Smitten with the landscape of the West, she published her first book, Primary Geography, in 1833, which celebrated the diverse cultures and vistas she encountered. In 1836, she met and married Calvin Stowe, a professor at the Lane Seminary. He encouraged her writing, they had seven children, and weathered financial and other problems during their decades-long union. Stowe would write countless articles, some were published in the renowned women's magazine of the times, Godey's Lady's Book. She also wrote 30 books, covering a wide range of topics from homemaking to religion in nonfiction, as well as several novels.

The turning point in Stowe's personal and literary life came in 1849, when her son died in a cholera epidemic that claimed nearly 3000 lives in her region. She later said that the loss of her child inspired great empathy for enslaved mothers who had their children sold away from them. The passage of the Fugitive Slave Act of 1850, which legally compelled Northerners to return runaway slaves, infuriated Stowe and many in the North. This was when Stowe penned what would become her most famous work, the novel, Uncle Tom's Cabin. Originally serialized in the National Era, Stowe saw her tale as a call to arms for Northerners to defy the Fugitive Slave Act. The vivid characters and great empathy inspired by the book was further aided by Stowe's strong Christianity.

Uncle Tom's Cabin was released as a book in March 1852, selling 300,000 copies in the United States in the first year. It was later performed on stage and translated into dozens of languages. When some claimed her portrait of slavery was inaccurate, Stowe published Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin, a book of primary source historical documents that backed up her account, including the narratives of notable former slaves Frederick Douglass and Josiah Henderson. Southern pro-slavery advocates countered with books of their own, such as Mary Henderson Eastman's Aunt Phillis's Cabin; Or, Southern Life as It Is. This work and others like it attempted to portray slavery as a benevolent institution, but never received the acclaim or widespread readership of Stowe's.

Stowe used her fame to petition to end slavery. She toured nationally and internationally, speaking about her book and donating some of what she earned to help the antislavery cause. She also wrote extensively on behalf of abolition, most notably her "Appeal to Women of the Free States of America, on the Present Crisis on Our Country," which she hoped would help raise public outcry to defeat the 1854 Kansas-Nebraska Act.

During the Civil War, Stowe became one of the most visible professional writers. For years, popular folklore claimed that President Abraham Lincoln, upon meeting Stowe in 1862, said, "So you're the woman who wrote the book that started this great war." That quote, published in a 1911 biography of Stowe by her son Charles, has been called into question, as Stowe herself and two others present at the meeting make no reference to it in their accounts (and Charles was only a boy at the time of the meeting).

In 1873, Stowe and her family moved to Hartford, Connecticut, where she remained until her death in 1896, summering in Florida. She helped breathe new life into the Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art, and was involved with efforts to launch the Hartford Art School, later part of the University of Hartford.

A little sheep humor for you . . .

The shepherd drives the wolf from the sheep's throat, for which the sheep thanks the shepherd as his liberator, while the wolf denounces him for the same act as the destroyer of liberty. Plainly, the sheep and the wolf are not agreed upon a definition of liberty.

Really, Dr. Fauci?
How did you know there would be a "surprise" outbreak?

"If there's one message that I want to leave with you today ... there is no question that there will be a challenge to the coming [Trump] administration in the arena of infectious diseases ... there will be a surprise outbreak..."
